

Thursday, October 16, 2014

search... GO Advanced Search

Daily Briefs

French official says private sector partnership is key to nation's cyber strategy

Posted: October 16, 2014

A strong partnership between government and private industry is key to France's new strategy on cybersecurity, a French Embassy official said this week at an event in Washington, DC.

"Cybersecurity has become ubiquitous," Frédéric Doré, deputy chief of mission at the French Embassy in Washington, said at a Tuesday event on cybersecurity and the law sponsored by the French-American Foundation. "We need to strengthen our cooperation."

Doré said French-American ties are stronger than ever and partnership on cybersecurity is necessary for a secure cyberspace. Doré added that cyber investigations should be regulated as other criminal and terrorism investigations are regulated, following a case-by-case approach with fast and efficient reaction and conducted under robust training programs.

"The cyber world is not separated from the real world anymore," Doré said.
2483360

MOST VIEWED DAILY NEWS

Metrics for use of NIST framework will be focus in Tampa, says White House official

The latest industry input, NIST workshop to shape next phase for cyber framework

U.S. Chamber praises successful rollout of NIST cybersecurity framework

The week ahead: DHS holds 'C-cubed' voluntary program meeting

Does the cybersecurity policy machinery need a 'shock,' or maybe a lawyer?

RELATED CONTENT

Former attorney general: Private sector better suited to handle cybersecurity

IT industry urges international effort to promote cybersecurity framework

U.S and Japanese forces to share more data on cyber threats

U.S. participates in 'high-level' international cybersecurity talks

U.S. plans cybersecurity industry trip to Poland and Romania

NATO cybersecurity center plans ethics workshop at Oxford

Terror threat in cyber space examined as U.S. conducts air campaign in Middle East

Senate panel report: China repeatedly breached DOD transportation contractors

NIST to discuss cybersecurity framework with officials from India

FBI official says aggressive use of cyber indictments is 'new normal'

E-MAIL ALERTS

If you're not already signed up to receive e-mailed news alerts from Inside Cybersecurity, including the morning Daily Report, click below, enter your e-mail address and get on the list. Not sure if you're signed up? Click below and enter your e-mail address to find out.

SIGN UP

FEATURES

- Daily News
- Documents
- Weekly Analysis

INSIDE CYBERSECURITY

- Home
- About
- Privacy Policy

STAY CONNECTED

